Quicken Loans needs to hire 500 employees and plans to host a job fair Saturday at its headquarters at the Compuware building in downtown Detroit.

It will be the second job fair for Quicken this year. The company hired 100 workers at a similar event in April, said Michelle Salvatore, director of recruiting. That event attracted more than 300 job-seekers, she said. Some of the openings are in Quicken's suburban offices, but those would transfer to Detroit in the next six months.

Salvatore promises the event won't be a "dry experience" of handing a résumé to a recruiter across a table. Instead, applicants will have the chance to speak directly with recruiters and tour Quicken offices.

"We want to show off what we are as a company," Salvatore said. "We probably won't hire anyone on the spot. They will come back for a second interview. It is a great opportunity to meet and introduce themselves to the hiring leaders, and to enjoy the culture we've developed here."

The company wants to hire in several areas, including mortgage banking, marketing and technology. No experience is required for the mortgage banking positions. A listing of positions is at www.quickenloanscareers.com.

The Web site notes that the mortgage banking positions pay an average of $45,000-$55,000 in the first year. Quicken also pays for training, offers opportunities for rewards and prizes and provides benefits such as a 401(k) match, health insurance and tuition reimbursement.

Pay for the technology and marketing jobs depends on the applicant's experience; Salvatore could not give salary ranges on them.

To apply, bring your resume to the Compuware Building, 1050 Woodward Ave., from 10 a.m. to 1 p.m. Parking is available at the Compuware garage on
